

FORTHCOMING DECEMBER 2012!

CELEBRATING
100
YEARS

Teachers College Press
Teachers College, Columbia University

Education 3.0

Seven Steps to Better Schools

James G. Lengel

Foreword by David Steiner

"Jim has undoubtedly set out a road map to that much talked of but rarely glimpsed destination, the new educational system....We can stumble our way forward, or we can learn from the pragmatic and hard-earned wisdom of Jim Lengel, who has done more effective thinking about how to make 21st-century learning a reality for our children than anyone I know." —From the Foreword by David Steiner, Klara and Larry Silverstein Dean, Hunter

College School of Education, and former New York State Commissioner of Education

"In Education 3.0, Jim Lengel addresses LEARNING at the root of school change. He presents his readers with the opportunity to envision education as it can be through the eyes and actions of students and teachers. The result is a plan for school improvement complete with concrete examples." —John Nori, Director of Program Development, the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP)

"This is another easy-to-understand book written by Jim Lengel that addresses many levels of educational responsibility, including school administrators and classroom teachers. Education 3.0 provides excellent support and guidance in the transformation of education to enhance student learning." —Gerry Smith, former school administrator, Ontario, Canada

"From checklists that guide the actual technical needs of a school to a list of teacher competencies that will inform hiring and professional development, Education 3.0 provides a comprehensive guide for educators seeking to transform their schools into 21st century learning environments." —Mary C. Moss, co-founder, NYC iSchool, Consultant, Novare Schools

In his new book, renowned educator and technology expert James G. Lengel provides a refreshing and hopeful picture of what schools should look like and a groundbreaking 7-step process for envisioning and building them that draws on the full possibilities offered by new digital technologies. He describes the process in action through the eyes of a student, a teacher, and a school leader. Education 3.0 includes an array of tools to create a new vision, write a comprehensive plan, and implement the changes in one's own school.

Jim Lengel is on the faculty of Hunter College of the City University of New York. He consults with organizations around the world and publishes a weekly column and podcast on teaching with technology at PowerToLearn.com.

2013 / 240pp. / PB, $31.95 / ISBN 978-0-8077-5382-8

Please visit tcpress.com for updates! Sign up as a TC Press member and choose to receive pre-release information on new books, invitations to author events, and discounts on new releases! Go to: store.tcpress.com/member

Contact TC Press at: (212) 678-3929

Visit us online at www.tcpress.com

Follow us on Twitter: @TCPress

For special bulk sales, please contact TC Press at: (212) 678-3919